As head coach of Bloomsburg for three seasons, Wirmsberger qualified 10 student-athletes for the NCAA Tournament, including six in 2005, and he coached the program's first-ever Olympic Trials qualifier. He helped four Huskies win Eastern Wrestling League titles and six win PSAC crowns. Named the 2005 PSAC Coach of the Year after leading Bloomsburg to the team title for the first time since 1990, Wirmsberger's recruiting classes were ranked 14th and 19th, respectively, in 2003 and 2004 and his first recruiting class at Bucknell received a No. 14 ranking. A 1995 graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in criminal justice, Wirmsberger posted a 35-8 record and was the Big Ten Champion and NCAA runner-up at 158 pounds in 1995. That was his third of three straight All-America plaques, and he earned team Most Valuable Wrestler honors. Overall in his career, Wirmsberger compiled a record of 120-44, third most wins in school history. In NCAA competition, he logged 11 wins for the Spartans in three trips to nationals. During his career at Michigan State, the team went from a struggling program to a 12th-place national ranking his sophomore year, 25th his junior year and third in the nation his senior season.

He also served as tournament director for the AAU Ironman tournament and designed marketing strategies for summer wrestling camps during his stint with the Huskies.

Prior to his time at Bloomsburg, Sprecher served as head coach for E.A. Laney High School in Wilmington, N.C. Before coaching at Laney, Sprecher served as an intern strength and conditioning coach with the Pittsburgh Steelers where he helped implement strength, conditioning, and rehabilitation programs for all players and lived on site with the team during the 1998 training camp.

A 1998 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, Sprecher earned a bachelor of science in education and is working to complete his masters degree in exercise physiology from Bloomsburg. While at Pitt, Sprecher was a varsity wrestler and earned the Bell Atlantic Division I Scholar Athlete Award his senior year.
